1 this Proposed Consent Judgment and Permanent Injunction (“Consent Judgment” or “Order”) as 2 provided below.

3 STATEMENT AND AGREEMENTS BY THE PARTIES

4 1. The Acting Secretary filed complaints in the above-captioned three civil actions
 5 pursuant to Section 11(c), 29 U.S.C. § 660(c)(1), of the Occupational Safety and Health Act
 6 (“the Act”) based on the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (“OSHA”) findings that 7 the USPS violated the Act when it terminated the complainant probationary employees
 8 (“Complainants”) because they reported a work-related injury and, in some cases, delayed the 9 processing of workers’ compensation paperwork resulting in untimely payments. In bringing 10 these actions, the Acting Secretary represents the interests of Complainants Maurice Mitchell, 11 Christopher Jimenez, and Samuel Sweezer.

12 2. In these cases, the Acting Secretary sought back pay, front pay, consequential 13 damages, and/or emotional distress damages suffered by each Complainant.

14 3. Defendant admits that the Court had jurisdiction over it and the subject matter of 15 this action.

16 4. Defendant admits it has a policy and form (PS Form 1750) that requires it to place
 17 probationary employees on standards and then evaluate such employees against those standards 18 at 30, 60 and 80 days of their probationary periods.

19 5. The parties consent to the entry of this Consent Judgment without further trial or 20 adjudication.

21 6. This Consent Judgment is entered without restricting the Acting Secretary’s right
 22 to investigate and redress matters within her jurisdiction under the Act not arising out of or 23 relating to the transactions and occurrences alleged in her Section 11(c) complaints for the above
 24 cases, including the Acting Secretary’s right to institute further enforcement actions with respect 25 to any other such matter.

26 PERMANENT INJUNCTION

27 7. Defendant, its officers, agents, servants, employees and those persons in active

1 concert or participation with it are enjoined as provided in Paragraphs 8 through 12 in the 2 following Manager of Post Office Operations (“MPOO”) Areas in Defendant’s Washington
 3 District: MPOO Area C for the Vancouver area that has five postal facilities;¹ MPOO Area S for

1 Section 11(c) of the Act (29 U.S.C. § 660(c)) through, in any manner, discriminating against any 2 employee, such as by terminating a probationary employee for offenses that typically do not
 3 warrant termination of a probationary employee or manufacturing non-factually supported 4 reasons to justify the termination, because said employee filed any complaint or instituted or 5 caused to be instituted any proceeding under or related to the Act or testified or is about to testify
 6 in any such proceeding or because of said employee's exercise of any right afforded by the Act
 7 on behalf of themselves or others, including because the employee reported a work-related 8 injury, or sought compensation for a work-related injury.

9. Furthermore, Defendant shall:

10 a. Give probationary employees who report work-related injuries equal 11 opportunity to pass probation; this includes but is not limited to evaluating probationary
 12 employees based on their medical restrictions, providing feedback and their performance
 13 evaluations as required in its PS Form 1750, and/or extending their probationary periods
 14 as warranted.

15 b. Provide probationary employees who report a workplace injury with the 16 necessary information to file a worker's compensation claim during their orientation to 17 the Postal Service.

18 c. Conduct a review by a District Human Relations ("HR") or Labor 19 Relations ("LR") officer of any proposed termination of a probationary employee who 20 reported a workplace injury. Such officer must have received training(s) on the 21 requirements of this Consent Judgment and the requirements of Section 11(c) of the OSH
 22 Act as enumerated in Paragraphs 11(f)-(g) of this Consent Judgment. The review shall at 23 least include a review of the PS Form 1750 completed for the probationary employee.
 24 The results of the review required hereunder must be communicated to the management
 25 official proposing the termination, who must take appropriate action based on the HR/LR 26 officer's review.

27 d. Follow its own written policies regarding fair treatment and evaluation of

1 probationary employees, including injured probationary employees, and probationary
 2 employees who exercise their rights under Section 11(c).

3 10. Defendant shall comply with the following notice and training requirements:

4 a. Defendant shall provide the Notice of Rights informing probationary
 5 employees of their rights to report work-related injuries and related medical restrictions 6 free of retaliation, including unfair evaluations and termination, attached herein as 7 Appendix A as follows: within ten (10) calendar days of the entry of this Order for all 8 probationary employees employed by Defendant as of the entry date of this Order; and 9 within ten (10) calendar days of Defendant employing a new employee (e.g., new hire or 10 transfer) to the postal facilities specified in Paragraph 7, if the new employee is employed
 11 in these postal facilities between the entry date of this Order and December 31, 2026.

12 b. Defendant shall provide a copy of this Consent Judgment as follows:
 13 within ten (10) calendar days of the entry of this Order for all probationary employees
 14 employed by Defendants as of the entry date of this Order; and within ten (10) calendar
 15 days of Defendant employing a new probationary employee to the postal facilities
 16 specific in Paragraph 7, if the new employee is employed in these postal facilities
 17 between the entry date of this Order and December 31, 2026.

18 c. Within ten (10) calendar days of entry of this Order, Defendant shall post 19 a copy of this Consent Judgment in all postal facility locations that are accessible to non-20 supervisory employees (e.g., break room or locker room) for a period of six (6) months.

21 d. Within ten (10) calendar days of the entry of this Order, Defendant must 22 send an e-mail to all of its Postmasters, managers, and supervisors (“management 23 officials”) within MPOO Areas C, S and T, the body of which is attached as Appendix B
 24 notifying them of this Consent Judgment and the rights and responsibilities under Section
 25 11(c) of OSH Act. This email message shall contain the subject line: “Notice of USPS
 26 Consent Judgment & Rights and Responsibilities for Section 11c Whistleblowers.” This 27 e-mail shall emphasize the importance of adhering to the requirements of this Consent

Judgment and OSHA whistleblower laws, including the prohibition against terminating, discriminating, or retaliating against employees for reporting work-related injuries at any time to include during their probationary period. USPS shall attach the following documents to this email: this Consent Judgement, PS Form 1767 (Report of Hazard, Unsafe Condition or Practice) (Appendix C); and an OSHA Fact Sheet for Whistleblower Complaints Under Section 11(c) (Appendix D).

e. The email notification in the preceding paragraph shall also be sent to all management officials on an annual basis in September 2025 and September 2026. Defendant will copy OSHA on all of these email notifications at the following e-mail addresses: OSHA-REG09-WB@DOL.gov and Eldridge.Megan@dol.gov. To the extent that Defendant sends more than one e-mail because the list of names is too large to include in one e-mail, Defendant will copy OSHA at the e-mails listed above for each set of e-mails it sends.

f. Within one-hundred and twenty (120) calendar days of entry of this Order and annually thereafter to December 31, 2026, Defendant shall provide training to all management officials and the District Manager about each of the legal requirements contained within this Consent Judgment, including training about Defendant's policies specified in Paragraph 9 above, including, but not limited to, conducting performance evaluations, conducting performance evaluations that consider medical restrictions to the extent they exist, processing workers' compensation claims timely, etc. Additionally, Defendant shall provide this training to all Labor Relations Specialists, Human Resource Managers and other persons who advise these management officials regarding their duties pursuant to this Consent Judgment even if they have taken it within the last year.

g. Within one-hundred and twenty (120) calendar days of the entry of this Order and annually thereafter to December 31, 2026, Defendant must provide its "OSHA Whistleblower Protection" training to all management officials and the District Manager who are either currently working within the MPOO Areas specified in Paragraph 7 or 1 who is the District Manager for them even if they have taken it within the last year.

 2 Additionally, Defendant shall provide this training to all Labor Relations Specialists,
 3 Human Resource Managers and other persons who advise these management officials
 4 regarding their Section 11(c) duties again even if they have taken it within the last year.

5 h. By November 30, 2024, and annually thereafter to December 31, 2026,
 6 Defendant will confirm to OSHA that it covered the required training in the preceding 7 paragraph for its employees holding the positions named therein. Upon OSHA's request,
 8 Defendant shall produce within thirty (30) days to OSHA data identifying the training
 9 participants' full name, job title, postal facility where this employee is employed, date 10 they took the training, and the title of the training for the postal facilities identified by 11 OSHA. Defendant will send the training roster to OSHA-REG09-WB@dol.gov and 12 Eldridge.Megan@dol.gov (Regional Supervisory Investigator, OSHA Whistleblower 13 Protection Programs) using e-mail.

14 i. Within ten (10) calendar days of entry of this Order, Defendant shall post
 15 for six (6) months or as long as required by law, its PS Form 1767 (Report of Hazard, 16 Unsafe Condition or Practice) (Appendix C); an OSHA Fact Sheet for Whistleblower 17 Complaints Under Section 11(c) (Appendix D), and OSHA Form 300A (Summary of 18 Work Related Injuries and Illnesses) (Appendix E), in the same location it posts the 19 Notice of Rights to employees (Appendix A).

20 11. Defendant is enjoined as follows, regarding the rights of the Section 11(c)
 21 Complainants: Christopher Jimenez, Maurice Mitchell, and Samuel Sweezer:

22 a. Defendant must expunge any adverse references from Complainants'
 23 personnel records (informal and eOPF). For each Complainant who is not reinstated to 24 employment with Defendant, Defendant shall provide each of them clean employment
 25 records that indicate they separated from the USPS for personal reasons, an affirmative 26 notation in their employment records that they are eligible for rehire and will ensure that 27 this provision is enforced throughout all computerized data systems and other locations

1 where Defendant maintains personnel records.

2 b. Defendant will only release its employment records regarding any
 3 Complainant or discuss the reasons for their departure from the USPS as required by law
 4 or with the Complainant's expressed written permission. Should USPS be required by 5 law to release Complainant's employment records, it will notify Complainant of this 6 requirement within 4 (four) business days of receiving it at Complainants' addresses
 7 listed in Paragraphs 12 – 14 below. In this notice to Complainant, Defendant will include
 8 all of the written documents it received requiring it to provide any of Complainant's
 9 employment records to a third party. Furthermore, Complainants agree to refer 10 prospective employers to Defendant's Human Resources Service Center (HRSSC) by 11 calling 1-877-477-3273 and not refer them to contact anyone in their prior or current 12 facilities nor their prior or current supervisors.

13 c. Defendant shall re-employ Complainant Christopher Jimenez as a career
 14 employee at the same job he held at the time of his unlawful termination, with all rights,
 15 including, but not limited to, each: pay increase, pension contribution, and bonus;
 16 benefits (e.g., vacation leave; other leave like sick leave; medical, dental, eye, and life 17 insurance; Thrift Savings Plan ("TSP") 1 (one) percent automatic contribution); and 18 seniority he would have received if his employment had not been terminated. For the 19 determination of his restored benefits from April 30, 2021, to April 30, 2023, Defendant 20 shall calculate his benefits as if Mr. Jimenez had been a non-career employee. For the 21 determination of his restored benefits from May 1, 2023, to the date of his imminent
 22 reemployment (not later than July 15, 2024), Defendant shall calculate his restored
 23 benefits as if Mr. Jimenez had been a career employee. For Mr. Jimenez to receive the 24 TSP 1 (one) percent automatic contribution from Defendant pursuant to this Consent
 25 Judgment, he will need to enroll in TSP within 90 (ninety) days of being reemployed.
 26 Defendant shall provide Mr. Jimenez with a designated on-the-job instructor at the 27 commencement of his reemployment for at least a period of three (3) days.

1 d. Unless already addressed, within ten (10) calendar days of completing any
 2 requirement delineated in Paragraph 11, Defendant shall produce evidence of compliance
 3 to OSHA, via e-mail to OSHA-REG09-WB@DOL.gov and Eldridge.Megan@dol.gov.

Your Rights Under the Occupational Safety & Health Act

The Secretary of Labor has brought suit against USPS for violating the rights of probationary employees to report injuries free from retaliation under Section 11(c) of the OSH Act in the case Su v. USPS, Civil Action No. 3:22-cv-5180-RJB, in the United States District Court in the Western District of Washington. The Court has ordered USPS to:

Not, in any manner, discriminate against any employee, including any probationary employee, because such employee has reported a workplace injury, instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding under or related to the employee protection provisions of §11(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970; 29 U.S.C. §660(c) and 29 C.F.R. §1904.36, or has testified or is about to testify in any proceeding or because of the exercise by such employee on behalf of himself, herself or others of any right afforded by this Act.

Additionally, the Court has also ordered that USPS provide training to all management and supervisory staff, about the employee protection provisions of §11(c) of the OSH Act, which prohibits an employer from unfairly evaluating, discharging, demoting, suspending, reprimanding, creating a retaliatory hostile work environment, or in any other way discriminating against an employee if such discrimination is due, in whole or in part, to the employee's lawful, good faith act done, or perceived by the employer to have been done or about to be done to:

- A. Report a work-related injury or illness of an employee;
- B. Report a safety or health concern; or
- C. Assist another employee to exercise his or her right under the OSH Act

USPS shall not intimidate employees by suggesting or threatening that employee contact, conversation, or cooperation with OSHA officials might result in closure of the employer's facilities, in loss of employment for any employee, or in civil legal action being taken against any employee.

RETALIATION IS AGAINST THE LAW

The U.S. Postal Service is committed to a culture of compliance with the law and to a safe workplace. All employees (including probationary, term, and temporary employees) are encouraged to be alert to and raise unsafe and hazardous conditions and to be able to freely report a workplace injury without fear of losing their job or suffer other retaliation.

If an employee tells you about a workplace injury (whether they are your direct report or not) or that they see a hazard or potential violation of law, you have a duty to report it as instructed and using form PS Form 1767 (attached) and you have a duty to ensure that your treatment of that employee going forward is not different because they raised these issues with you.

Federal law protects whistleblowers who raise concerns and possible violations of laws such as the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA). Because of these whistleblower protections, employers must not retaliate against an employee for engaging in activities that are protected under these laws.

Employee activities protected under these laws include:

- filing a report about a possible violation of the law with OSHA or other government agencies,
- raising or reporting a concern about a possible violation of the law to the employer/supervisor,
- raising or reporting a workplace injury, illness, or hazard,
- cooperating with law enforcement,
- refusing to conduct tasks that would violate federal or state law, or
- engaging in any other type of legally protected activity.

These whistleblower protections do not only protect full-time permanent employees.

Probationary, term, and/or temporary employees are equally protected under these federal whistleblower laws.

You as a supervisor/manager and representative of the U.S. Postal Service may not punish or treat someone differently because they have reported a violation of the law, reported a safety complaint, or reported a workplace injury, illness, or hazard. This is called taking an “adverse action” against an employee. Adverse actions can be subtle. Here are some examples of adverse actions:

- Firing or laying off
- Demoting
- Denying overtime or promotion
- Disciplining
- Denying benefits
- Failing to hire or rehire
- Intimidation (such as responding to an employee with a stern reminder that they are on probation, when the employee reports an injury and requests time off for medical appointments)
- Making threats

- Blacklisting (such as notifying other potential employers that an applicant should not be hired or refusing to consider applicants for employment who have reported concerns to previous employers)
- Reassignment to a less desirable position or actions affecting prospects for promotion (such as excluding an employee from training meetings)
- Reducing pay or hours
- More subtle actions, such as isolating, ostracizing, mocking, or falsely accusing the employee of poor performance.

It is your responsibility to make sure that your decisions as a supervisor or manager promote a workplace culture that is safe and does not discourage raising safety and health concerns. For example, when making decisions regarding employees who have reported a workplace injury, safety concern or hazard ask yourself:

- Did this employee's report of their workplace injury or concern influence my decision to initiate disciplinary action in any way?
- When two or more employees engage in the same improper conduct, do I only discipline or discipline more severely the employee(s) who reported a concern or injury?
- Am I making this schedule change, assignment change, or granting/denying a leave request in the same way I would for an employee who did not report a concern or injury?
- Do I treat employees who have not reported a concern or an injury better than I treat employees who have reported a concern or an injury?

For more information on how employees can file a complaint with OSHA, employees can visit www.whistleblowers.gov or call OSHA at 1-800-321-OSHA (6742).

Please review the attached OSHA 11(c) Fact Sheet for more information.

REMEMBER—when employees are fearful of reporting—the entire workforce is put at risk! Ensuring that employees can report injuries/illnesses without fear of retaliation is crucial to protecting worker safety and health.

OSHA FactSheet

Filing Whistleblower Complaints under Section 11(c) of the OSH Act of 1970

Employees are protected from retaliation for raising workplace health and safety concerns and for reporting work-related injuries and illnesses.

Covered Employees

Section 11(c) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSH Act) prohibits employers from retaliating against employees for exercising a variety of rights guaranteed under the OSH Act, such as filing a safety and health complaint with OSHA, raising a health and safety concern with their employers, participating in an OSHA inspection, or reporting a work-related injury or illness.

A covered employee is any private sector employee in a business affecting interstate commerce, an employee of the U.S. Postal Service, an employee of certain tribal employers, or a non-federal public sector employee in a state having an OSHA-approved state program.

Protected Activity

A person may not discharge or in any manner retaliate against an employee because the employee:

Filed any complaint or instituted or caused to be instituted any proceeding under or related to the OSH Act.

Exercised any right afforded by the OSH Act. Examples include, but are not limited to, communicating orally or in writing with management personnel about occupational safety or health matters, including asking questions or expressing concerns, requesting safety data sheets, reporting a work-related injury or illness, or requesting copies of OSHA regulations; filing a safety/health complaint with OSHA, participating in an OSHA on-site inspection.

Unfavorable Employment Actions

A person may be found to have violated Section 11(c) of the OSH Act if the employee's protected activity was a motivating factor in the person's decision to take unfavorable employment action(s) against the employee. Unfavorable employment actions may include:

- Firing or laying off
- Blacklisting
- Demoting
- Denying overtime or promotion
- Disciplining
- Denying benefits
- Failure to hire or rehire
- Intimidation
- Making threats
- Reassignment affecting prospects for promotion
- Reducing pay or hours

Deadline for Filing Complaints

Complaints must be filed within 30 days after the alleged unfavorable employment action occurs (that is, when the employee is notified of the retaliatory action).

Employees filing untimely retaliation complaints with OSHA may be referred to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) for possible further action.

How to File an 11(c) Complaint

An employee, or representative of an employee, who believes he or she has been retaliated against in violation of Section 11(c), may file a complaint with OSHA within 30 days (see above). Complaints may be filed verbally with OSHA by visiting or calling the local OSHA office at 1-800-321-OSHA (6742), or may be filed in writing by sending a written complaint to the closest OSHA regional or area office, or by filing a complaint online at www.whistleblowers.gov/complaint_page.html.

Written complaints may be filed by facsimile, electronic communication, hand delivery during normal business hours, U.S. mail (confirmation services recommended), or other third-party commercial carrier.

The date of the postmark, facsimile, electronic communication, telephone call, hand delivery, delivery to a third-party commercial carrier, or in-person filing at an OSHA office is considered the date filed. No particular form is required and complaints may be submitted in any language.

To file a complaint electronically, please visit www.whistleblowers.gov/complaint_page.html.

To contact OSHA to file a complaint, please call 1-800-321-OSHA (6742) and they will connect you to the closest office; or visit www.osha.gov/html/RAMap.html.

Upon receipt, OSHA will review the complaint to determine whether it is appropriate to conduct a fact-finding investigation (e.g., whether the complaint was filed within 30 days; whether the allegation is covered by Section 11(c)). All complaints are investigated according to statutory requirements in 29 CFR 1977.

In the 27 states with OSHA-approved state plans, employees may file a complaint under Section 11(c) of the OSH Act with both the state plan and Federal OSHA. For a list of state plans, please visit: www.osha.gov/dcsp/osp.

What to do about a Dangerous Situation at Work

If workers believe working conditions are unsafe or unhealthful, it is recommended that they bring the conditions to their employers' attention, if possible.

Workers may file a complaint with OSHA concerning a hazardous working condition at any time. For information on occupational safety and health laws and regulations, visit OSHA's website at www.osha.gov.

However, workers should not leave the worksite merely because they have filed a complaint. If a worker, with no reasonable alternative, refuses in good faith to expose themselves to a dangerous condition, the worker would be protected from subsequent retaliation. Where possible, the employee must have also sought, but been unable to obtain, a correction of the condition from the employer or OSHA. For more information, go to www.osha.gov/workers.

Results of the Investigation

If the evidence supports an employee's claim of retaliation and a voluntary settlement cannot be reached, OSHA, through the Office of the Solicitor (SOL), may litigate the case in U.S. District Court. OSHA may seek possible relief to make the employee whole, including:

- Reinstatement.
- Payment of back pay with interest.
- Compensation for special damages and other expenses the employee may have incurred as a result of the violation.
- Punitive damages.
- Other non-monetary relief.

If the evidence does not support an employee's claim of retaliation, OSHA's non-merit finding will become a final order of the Secretary of Labor unless either party objects to the determination within 15 days to the Directorate of Whistleblower Protection Programs (DWPP).
